

JOB DESCRIPTION

For Technical Content Developer

The Technical Content Developer is responsible for creating, editing, and managing technical documentation, instructional materials, and other content used for skill development and training of professionals in Instrumentation, Automation and Surveillance domains.

Responsibilities

- Understand Qualification Packs that describe job roles.
- Conduct research to understand the industry context and the job roles.
- Work under the guidance of subject matter experts (SMEs) to translate complex technical concepts into clear, understandable materials.
- Develop technical content - including classroom material, trainer guides, and PowerPoint presentations, practice exams, and hands-on labs.
- Update content to incorporate feedback and extensions.
- Ensure compliance with copyright and data protection laws.

Qualifications

- B.Sc./Diploma/B.E. in Electronics/Instrumentation/Mechatronics/Robotics
- Practical experience of Instrumentation and Automation industry.
- Strong articulation, writing and research skills.
- Ability to comprehend sample documents in the related areas and follow the templates and style of instruction materials.
- Knowledge of common software applications such as Microsoft Word, Power-Point, MS Paint, Grammarly, Plagiarism and AI content generation tools etc.
- Ability to work independently with minimal guidance and supervision.

Contact Information:

For any inquiries or further information, please contact:

Mayank Bansal

IASC Sector Skill Council sqa@iascsectorskillcouncil.in Contact No.- 011-45621950

We look forward to receiving your proposals and partnering with you to ensure the successful completion of this important project.